New Cuban President Faces Serious Cabinet Crisis

IMMEDIATE ELECTION IS DEMANDED

ABC Members Threaten to Quit Cabinet Unless An Assembly Vote Called

CONFERENCE IS HELD

Secretary of War May Be Replaced by de Cespedes, Report States

HAVANA, Aug. 29.—(UP)—President Carlos Manuel de Cespedes today over demands that he call an election for a constituent assembly to enact constitutional reforms and arrange for immediate general elections.

De Cespedes' two most powerful cabinet ministers, Secretary of State Carlos Saladrigas and Secretary of Treasury Joaquin Martinez Senez, dined with him at the presidential palace. A third guest was Juan Guitierrez.

All three are members of the revolving door of the secret revolutionary society ABC. It was reported reliably they told the president ABC members would leave the cabinet and cease all participation in his regime unless he called constituent assembly elections before the general election he has proclaimed for February.

Dine At Palace

In addition, Carlos Mendota and Mario Menocal, both political leaders of great prestige, have indicated that they believe de Cespedes to be mistaken in his aim of continuing the present government until February.

The official palace version of the dinner was that it was held "for the purpose of exchanging views regarding a constituent assembly."

The demand of the ABC for a constituent assembly united the revolutionary group with the student directory, whose members have made vehement representations to the government.

The government, believing the best course is to continue with the present congress until the scheduled February election, so far has clung to its plan of naming a consultative commission to be a substitute for the assembly.

Replacement

With three members of his cabinet declaring for the assembly, it was reported that a fourth member

GIVES VERSION OF ASSAULT ON SOLO

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—(UP)—The "authentic" version of what happened at the Sands Point Bath club Saturday night when Sen. Huey P. Long received a deep cut over his left eye, was circulated in Long Island social circles today and published in New York newspapers.

Senator Long went to a charity party at which several hundred persons were in attendance. He was in a gay mood, the New York Daily News and other papers asserted. He drifted into the wash room where he encountered a 40-year-old architectural engineer.

The engineer objected to Long's method of approach and planted his fist over Long's eye. The senator emerged from the wash room, bleeding. The two public officials who took him to the party put him in a taxicab and returned him to his Manhattan hotel.

None of the supposed principals was available for comment.

INSULL ARREST HELD LEGAL BY GREEK COURT

United States Has 60 Days in Which to Press Its Extradition Case

ATHENS, Aug. 29.—(UP)—The supreme court today ratified as legal the arrest of Samuel Insull, American utility magnate. Insull was arrested at the request of the American government.

Insull's lawyers contended the arrest was unjustified because Insull had made no effort to evade authorities since the first request of his extradition was made last year.

The court had been expected to ratify the arrest on the ground that it was in accordance with the extradition treaty under which the American government asks that Insull be extradited to answer charges that he violated bankruptcy laws.

The United States has 60 days within which to convince the court that the request for extradition should be granted.

Before announcing the ruling the president of the appeals court informed Insull that he was arrested by virtue of a verbal note

RECIPROCAL TRADE TREATY IS DRAFTED

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 29.—(UP)—A government committee is completing draft of a reciprocal trade treaty which Mexico will propose as the basis for treaty negotiations with the United States, it was learned today.

Preliminary diplomatic conversations on the subject have been held.

Mexico is understood to be prepared to grant the United States tariff concessions in return for similar concessions to Mexico.

Mexico particularly seeks more favorable treatment for vegetables, fruits and cattle. Also it seeks an outlet for sugar, of which it has an exportable surplus of 100,000 tons a year.

GOLD EMBARGO MODIFIED BY PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT TODAY

TWO SLAIN BY GANGSTERS IN CAFE IN L. A.

Three Shot Down Couple and Then Calmly Walk Out of Restaurant

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 29.—(UP)—A woman, traditional figure of many gang shootings, was questioned today by detectives, striving to piece out an explanation of why two men met violent death as they sat dining in an exclusive cafe.

Harry Macklay, 29, of New York, and F. Keller, of St. Louis, were identified as the victims of a murderous fusillade at the Bella Napoli cafe last night. The "execution squad" was composed of three well-dressed men who sought them out at their table, shot them down without a word and then retreated to the street where a large sedan driven by a fourth accomplice, purged at the curb.

Within a few hours police were questioning Miss Sonia Drenskoff, who was taken into custody at her home in Long Beach after police found Macklay and Keller had driven to the cafe in a car registered in her name. She declared a forgotten friend had borrowed the car a few nights before. She was brought here for renewed questioning.

Eastern Visitors

Selecting a list of possible motives, police checked off as most likely gambling warfare or gangland retribution. The fact the victims were easterners and slain in typical eastern gang fashion, unique to Hollywood, led to the theory they may have been hunted across the continent. The gambling theory was supported by the discovery of cards of gaming establishments on their persons. They were said to have been well acquainted at Long Beach and Mexican border resorts.

Macklay was a familiar police figure in Hartford, Conn., Kansas City, New York and Los Angeles. Police said he also was known as Harry Frank and Abe Frank. Although he was not armed, he carried a gun permit over the signature.

AGRICULTURAL ACT UPHELD BY COURT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—(UP)—District Supreme Court Justice Daniel W. O'Donoghue upheld the validity of the agricultural adjustment act in a test case today, dismissing the injunction petition of two Chicago milk retailers seeking to restrain Secretary of Agriculture Wallace from enforcing the Chicago milk marketing agreement.

Attorneys for the Economy Dairy company and Milton Beck, dairy operators near Chicago, indicated they would seek an immediate review by the U. S. supreme court.

Judge O'Donoghue's decision sustained the constitutionality of the emergency farm legislation on the grounds "that a national emergency exists and the welfare of the people is at stake."

It was felt by some persons that Mr. Roosevelt and Farley were prepared to settle upon the three District of Columbia commissionerships but at the conclusion of his conference Farley resisted the subject did not come up.

The postmaster general left for New York City.

COUNTY TAX DELINQUENCIES 11 PER CENT, LAMB REPORTS

DELINQUENCY in taxes collected for purely county purposes today by figures released today by County Tax Collector John Lamb. The delinquency in taxes collected for municipalities, has not been computed in percentage but is estimated as being considerably more than the amount of county delinquency.

"But none of them will go to the arena," he said. "I love animals and I hate to kill bulls."

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 29.—President Roosevelt today appointed Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes as administrator for the nation's oil industry.

Ickes will head the planning and co-ordinating committee for the industry in administering the code it recently signed and also supervise price fixing.

Within the next 24 hours Mr. Roosevelt will name the 15 members of the planning and co-ordinating committee from a list of 50 or more names submitted by Ickes who this morning completed his discussions of the oil situation and public works.

Ickes, who also is public works administrator, departed immediately by plane for Washington to set in motion by Sept. 2 the machinery for carrying out the supervision of the oil industry.

Mr. Roosevelt also completed a discussion on patronage begun last night with Postmaster General James A. Farley. It was understood they discussed 40 to 50 postoffice appointments but no decisions were reached.

It was felt by some persons that Mr. Roosevelt and Farley were prepared to settle upon the three District of Columbia commissionerships but at the conclusion of his conference Farley resisted the subject did not come up.

The postmaster general left for New York City.

CITY PAYROLLS SHOW INCREASE OF $26,223.04

Canvass of Santa Ana Reveals City Almost 100 Percent Back of NRA

YESTERDAY'S campaign for co-operation under the "Blue Eagle" of the National Recovery Administration showed that Santa Ana business men and householders are co-operating almost 100 per cent with President Roosevelt in his recovery program.

Hundreds of men returned to jobs in the city and an increase of $26,223.04 in monthly payrolls of the city since July 1 the canvass of the business district revealed.

Jules Markel said that all reports from the canvassers in the business district have not been turned in and will not be in until tonight. The partial report however showed that since July 1 334 workers have been given jobs under the blanket code of the National Recovery Administration.

In addition to giving jobs to these men the business houses co-operated in the recovery program increased their payrolls to the extent of $26,223.04 monthly. This increase in payrolls, the survey revealed, is reached through the employment of additional workers and the increase in salary of old employees in some instances.

Women Back NRA

Canvassers in the residential district yesterday reported almost 100 per cent willingness of householders to sign the NRA Consumers cards. Workers have reported 64 of the city's 71 precincts as completed and show 5371 cards signed with but 51 refusals. Seven of the precincts not yet completed will be reported on tonight.

Exports Of Newly Mined Metal Legal

Promulgates Regulations for Establishment of Regulated Market

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 29.—(UP)—President Roosevelt today issued two executive orders modifying the gold embargo and promulgating regulations for the establishment of a regulated market for newly mined gold.

The first order authorizes the secretary of the treasury to accept newly mined gold on consignment for sale through the federal reserve banks.

The order provides specifically that such sales may be made "by export to foreign purchasers."

The second order provides for the registration through the internal revenue collectors of all gold holdings, both coin and bullion.

The gold consignment sales may be made only in such amounts as the treasury may approve.

"Such sales shall be made at a price which the secretary shall determine to be equal to the best price obtainable in the free gold markets of the world after taking into consideration any incidental expenses such as shipping costs and insurance," the first executive order said.

Another section provides for the permissive export of "articles fabricated from gold pursuant to this executive order."

WASHINGTON VOTES ON REPEAL TODAY

SEATTLE, Aug. 29.—(UP)—Wets hoped to make Washington the 24th state to repudiate national prohibition today, as voters passed on the 21st (repeal) amendment. Prohibitionists hoped the state's system of electing congressional delegates from 46 congressional districts might be an advantage to the admitted dry minority.

Repealists concentrated their efforts in getting the voters to the polls, which close at 8 p. m.

Final campaigns were featured by state-wide debates between Dr. Clarence True Wilson, Washington, D. C. dry, and J. C. Herberman, Seattle wet. Motorcades of women led by Miss Lillian Harris, New York, represented the women's organization for national prohibition reform.

LAMSON PALES AS DEATH MAP HUNG ON WALL

Picture of Bathroom Showing Dead Wife in Tub Displayed at Trial

SAN JOSE, Cal., Aug. 29.—(UP)—A gruesome exhibit—newest of a series of startling displays—pictured the death scene of the Allene Thorpe Lamson murder case at David A. Lamson's trial today.

The young defendant blanched as the state hung on the courtroom wall a picture of the bathroom of the Lamson Palo Alto home taken soon after Mrs. Lamson's body was found in the bathtub Memorial day.

The dead woman's head and arms dangled over the edge of the tub that formed the central feature of the exhibit. Near by was the washstand which the defense may claim was the instrument of her death.

The seven men and five women holding the former Stanford press executive's fate in their hands stared fascinated at the picture. Tears filled the eyes of Dr. Margaret Lamson and Mrs. Willis Tholts, sisters of the man accused of beating his wife to death because she allegedly deceived him and frustrated his love.

"Few paid attention to the routine testimony of H. A. Zink, chief of police of Palo Alto.

MERRIAM HITS BACK AT GOVERNOR ROLPH

LONG BEACH, Cal., Aug. 29.—(UP)—Lieut. Gov. Frank Merriam today struck back at Governor James Rolph Jr., following the latter's statement that he opposed the state sales tax and intimidation that Merriam was responsible for the measure.

"Governor Rolph overlooks the question in which the taxpayers are interested," said Merriam.

"It is not who is to be credited with passage of the sales tax, but who made it necessary."

The lieutenant governor did not elaborate on his statement.

COL. LINDBERGH ON INSPECTION TOUR

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Aug. 29.—(UP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh inspected today the plane in which he and Mrs. Lindbergh flew the Atlantic on their northern exploration trip. He also visited the military and civic airport at Kastrup.

Police guarded the Lindberghs from throngs of curiosity seekers who tried to invade their privacy. A German woman clairvoyant tried vainly to reach them, insisting that their kidnapped baby had not been killed, and that she was able to say where he was living.

50 PERSONS INJURED IN NEW MEXICO

Crack Golden State Limited Plunges Into River Bed From Bridge Today

FIVE CARS DERAILED

Survivors of Disaster Are Taken to Tucumcari and Given First Aid There

TUCUMCARI, N. M., Aug. 29.—The Golden State Limited passenger train, pride of the Southern Pacific-Rock Island service between the west coast and Chicago, plunged into a torrential mountain stream five miles west of here today.

At least seven lives were lost, an unknown number was missing. Between 45 and 50 persons were injured.

Steady rains in the last few days had turned usually dry Badajoz creek into a raging river. To this was added last night two inches of rain in a climatic cloudburst.

Washing around the piers of the railroad bridge over the creek, the torrent gradually weakened the pillars.

Drops 70 Feet

As the crack train, speeding from Los Angeles to the east, started over the bridge just before dawn, the structure collapsed catapulting the engine, two baggage cars, a day coach and a tourist sleeper 70 feet into the swollen arroyo.

Five cars of the train remained on the grade, hanging crazily to the rails and the wreckage of the bridge.

The engineer, Charles Croft, of Tucumcari, had both legs cut off and was scalded to death. His fireman, James Randle, of Tucumcari, was drowned. Three other persons, all passengers, were dead but unidentified.

Survivors of the wreck said they saw bodies washed down the creek. The chair car was completely submerged in the water. The muddy flood washed over a part of the tourist sleeper and lapped at its sides.

DEFENDANT IN HOGE DIVORCE CASE MISSING

The trial of Walter L. Hoge's suit for divorce from his wife, Mrs. Olive Hoge, started late this morning before Superior Judge G. K. Scofield in department three, superior court, with Mrs. Hoge missing.

According to Leonard Evans, attorney for Mrs. Hoge, his client is missing and he has no idea where he is at this time. Hoge is suing for divorce on the grounds that approximately one year ago his wife disappeared from their home and was found after several days living in a vacant house on the property of Ralph Fuller, Santa Ana insurance man. The Fuller property is in Orange and adjoins the river channel.

Fuller was called as the first witness this morning and told of finding Mrs. Hoge on his property at the time of her disappearance. Hoge was the second witness called before court adjourned for noon.

the limit as the surviving passengers were brought here for treatment.

Between 45 and 50 persons were treated at the hospital and then moved to hotels or private homes. At least five survivors were in critical condition.

The wreck occurred just before dawn when the passengers were in their berths in the sleepers or trying for rest in the chair car. Every effort was being made to identify the dead and injured but with the excitement and confusion little progress was made.

Knowing the grade had been damaged by the continuous rain and flood waters of the last few days, Engineer Croft had stopped his train a mile from the bridge to investigate the condition of the track.

The train was running only 20 miles an hour when it started across the bridge.

The picture brought into the trial the stark realization of the violence of the campus. The top of her head was indicated. Her arms hung limply, palms turned outward. The left hand seemed to reach for a slipper said to be Lamson's.

Blood and water spotted the floor of the little room where, through accident or murder, attack, the former Lamar, Mo., girl came to her death.

The spell cast over the crowded courtroom by the display was broken abruptly by the bull-dozed Edwin MacRea, chief attorney for the defense. He broke the silence characteristically by starting an argument with Prosecutor Allen P. Lindsay.

from the American legation, accusing him of bankruptcy.

No details of charges against Insull were produced, and the court intimated that if no warrants or prosecution papers were produced within the necessary 60 days, Insull would be released.

Insull testified he was born in England and was 74 years old and gave his occupation as a business executive in the United States.

Insull said he was a British subject until 1896 when he became an American citizen by naturalization.

Now, he said, he was uncertain as to his citizenship status.

The court reversed decision on Insull's application for release on bail.

Dennis Lazarimos, Insull's lawyer, argued there was no reason why Insull would try to leave Greece if released because he had not done so before when free, he knew the United States was preparing new charges against him. The state's attorney, in reply, said it would not greatly inconvenience Insull to remain in custody for 60 days.

Insull accepted stoically the court's reservation of its decision regarding bail. He bowed to the judge and was taken back to the hospital where he is under guard.

TWO OFFICERS TRANSFERRED FROM POLICE

Sergeant R. H. Barnard, a member of the police department since 1922 and Patrolman W. A. Swain, who entered the city service in 1923, will be transferred into other city work Thursday under the new arrangement to organize a utility group of the employees.

Chief of Police Floyd Howard announced the transfer today and said that the other two policemen to be reassigned on November 1 had not been selected.

Under the new plan, all city workers over 65 years of age are placed on the utility group and the policemen will take over some of their jobs. In addition, the former officers will work on school crossings and relieve the department of the necessity of detaching six men daily for this work.

WINS RELEASE FROM CHARGE BY DEAD WIFE

Another chapter in the strange case of Edward Sizer, husband of Mrs. Belma Lois Sizer, 17, pretty girl mother who was fatally burned in an alcohol cutting plant explosion in Orange on July 14, was written today in justice court when non-support charges against him were dismissed by Judge Chris P. Pann on the recommendation of the district attorney's office.

Sizer had been missing from Orange county since January and was never located by police following the preferring of non-support charges by his wife in February. Last Thursday, Sizer suddenly appeared in justice court, surrendered himself and was released on his own recognizance pending his hearing today.

The county welfare department and Sizer will make an arrangement to take care of the eight-month old child which has been placed in a Los Angeles orphanage foundation. Leo Fris, deputy district attorney, is assisting with the case.

Mrs. Sizer, burned over her entire body, died at the Orange County hospital on July 24 after waging a game battle for life. Her sister, Mrs. William Benton, was in the home at the time of the blast, is missing after being released on her own recognizance by Judge A. W. Swayze of Orange after being charged with possession of liquor.

Maj. James Harding reporting for the southwestern district said that 106 additional jobs had been created under the NRA blanket code increasing payroll in that district $7460.42 monthly.

Payrolls Boosted

In the southeast section of the business district Maj. E. S. Sharp reported that 138 men had been employed and that payroll had been increased by $9501.34. Sharp said that this large number of men returned to work and the heavy increase in payroll was accounted for by the fact that his district included several of the city's major industries. In some cases he said one entirely new shift had been added to the forces already employed in some of the industries.

Maj. E. H. Brinkerhoff reported for the northeast business district that 92 jobs had been opened and that payroll had been boosted $5344.97.

The northwest section of the district, canvassed under direction of Maj. P. C. Dietler showed re-employment of 52 men and an increase of $3916.51 in monthly payroll.

WILL ROGERS says:

SANTA MONICA, Aug. 29. (To the Editor of The Register.) I believe that Mr. Mokey, chief of the "brain trusters," getting out is about the starting of the end of college professors in government. A professor gets all of his out of a book, but the politician, as bad as he is, does have an understanding of human nature and the mob. So we just as well become reconciled to the fact that the old politician is with us, "even unto death."

Theories are great, they sound great, but the minute you are asked to prove one in actual life, why, the thing blows up. So, professors, back to the classroom, idealists back to the drawing-room; Communists back to the soap-box (and use some of it.) but old Congressman "Hokum" and old Senator "Hooley" are still the Mussolinis of our country.

WILL ROGERS.

Others bore the insignia of the "New Jersey Superior Officers' Association," "Police Benevolent Association of Westchester County, N. Y.," "Passaic county, City of Paterson, N. J.," and a fourth was signed by "James Murray, captain of police, Hudson county, N. J."

Both men had been living in luxurious quarters at the Ambassador hotel from August 8 to 19, according to the police.

Only a few patrons were in the cafe when the three gangsters entered. They walked directly to the back table and produced automatics. Macklay started, opened his mouth to speak was cut short by a roar of the three revolvers. He and his companion slumped to the floor, each with three wounds in neck, face and body. Seven bullets splintered the partition of an unoccupied, adjoining booth.

Two women diners fainted as the assassins coolly pocketed their heavy weapons, walked out without a glance backward and climbed into the waiting car. They fled before witnesses could obtain the license number.

In the apartment occupied by Macklay and Keller police found three guns, an opium smoking outfit and $1,000 worth of the drug, it was said.

They also discovered a list written by hand and headed "ammunition." It read: "6 steel vests, $20 each; 6 machine guns, $250; 4 sawed off shotguns, $20; 6 automatics, $20; 6 pistols, $20; 4000 rounds ammunition; 600 rounds shotgun ammunition."

CORONER JURY WITNESS SAYS HOLDS TRAGEDY FAVOR OFFERED UNAVOIDABLE FOR TESTIMONY

A verdict of unavoidable accident was returned yesterday afternoon by a coroner's jury of 10 men at the inquest held over the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Rawlins Barnes, 1015 Lowell street, who died from injuries sustained in an automobile wreck at Euclid and La Palma avenues west of Anaheim Thursday night.
Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. from the Backs, Terry and Campbell funeral home in Anaheim, where the inquest was held yesterday. The Rev. Herbert Weaver of St. Lukes Lutheran church of Huntington Park will officiate and interment will be in Angeles Abbey Mausoleum at Compton.

There were no witnesses to the accident other than the occupants of the two cars involved, Major M. Anderson, 2415 Hellotrope drive and Harold Curtis, Fullerton, drivers of the two cars, and were questioned by Coroner Earl Abney. Mrs. Anderson, who was seriously hurt in the wreck, is still confined in the Anaheim Sanitarium while Mrs. Curtis, riding in the Curtis machine, is confined at her home.

Anderson testified that he was driving east of La Palma avenue and made the boulevard stop. He said he changed into second gear as he started up and entered the intersection at a speed of 20 to 25 miles per hour. He declared that he did not see the lights of any approaching automobile.

Curtis testified that he was traveling north on Euclid avenue and entered the intersection at a speed of 40 miles an hour. He said he struck the Anderson sedan in the center of the intersection and overturned while the machine containing Mr. and Mrs. Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. Barnes careened 60 feet into a walnut grove without turning over.

Others called to testify were Albert H. Pape of Euclid avenue, uncle of Mrs. Barnes and Ernest Sawyer, California Highway Patrolman who arrived at the scene of the wreck shortly after 11 p. m. when it occurred.

Mrs. Barnes died at the Anaheim Sanitarium of a broken neck and internal injuries two hours after the accident and her husband passed away Sunday afternoon from a fractured skull and internal injuries.

A double funeral will be conducted tomorrow with associates of Mr. Barnes in the electric refrigeration business and mutual friends acting as pall bearers. They will include Cecil Gibbs, Jack Henle, Terry Smith, Carl Conner, Herb Salveson, William Holiday, C. A. Morgenthaler, John Harlow, Julius Kluthe, Guy Townsend, Al Erickson and Raymond Canton. Mrs. Ida Fisher of Anaheim will offer vocal numbers.

Grin Reflects Joy At Baby's Arrival

Thomas E. Williams, director of printing at the high school and junior college print shop, whose books have won wide renown for himself and the school, is wearing a grin today that won't come off. The reason is the birth last night of a seven-pound six-ounce girl, named Lorna Frances. Mother, baby, "and father, too, are all doing fine," Williams said today.

LAGUNA FESTIVAL OF ARTS HAILED AS OUTSTANDING EVENT; PAGEANT PLEAS

Regarded by spectators as by far the best thing of its kind ever attempted in the Art Colony and promising much for the future, the second annual Laguna Beach Festival of Arts got under way last night with a unique pageant called "Spirit of the Masters." Characters from paintings seemed to come to life, step from their frames and join in the celebration held to call the world's attention to the fact that Laguna Beach is distinct as a home of painters.

In a speech marking the formal opening of the festival, Mayor Frank B. Champion, after citing the reasons for holding it, said that immediately after Labor day, when it closes, a permanent organization will be formed to perpetuate the event.

Immediately following the pageant, the characters from the famous paintings posed on the stage of the festival grounds in 12 Paseo. Aided by an elaborate lighting plan, they were shown to good advantage and the instantaneous and vigorous applause showed they easily were recognized by the audience.

Pictures Modeled
First to pose was Josie Derkum Rice, original model for Louis Betts' painting, "Girl of the Golden West," now in the Chicago Art Institute, which was painted in Laguna Beach 18 years ago. Mrs. D. R. Stevens of Manhattan Kan., who was Miss Jane Griffith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Griffith, substituted at the last moment for Mrs. Doris Goff as "Sistine Madonna." She carried little Carolyn Schwankovsky as the babe. Miss Gretchen Kuehny posed for "The Broken Pitcher," Duncan MacArthur made "Blue Boy," the famous Gainsborough masterpiece, come to life. Little Gloria Murray renewed "The Age of Innocence." Ida Griffith, sister of Mrs. Stevens, was a good type for the Breton painting "Song of the Lark." Mary Hinchman's "Lavinia" was well posed. Mrs. F. C. Drake was majestic as "Whistler's Mother." Gretchen Schwin and Margo Sangster did a very difficult pose in "The Dancers." Mrs. Hilda Mackey's "Mona Lisa," was easily recognized. "Majesty in Art," a conception of J. Howard Sheridan, was posed by Mrs. Louisa Marie Chiberg and Mrs. Katherine Inch Petty, with Stella Harris as the slave girl.

The formal opening by Mayor Champion followed the posing. In a second address, welcoming the visitors on behalf of the artists, Louis Danz, president of the Laguna Beach Art association, asked his auditors to become better acquainted with the painters individually.

There are many unique exhibits in the festival grounds, most of them by painters and craftsmen. In one booth is a display of Taos corn grown in many different colors—some solid, some streaked and others with harlequin patterns. They are grown on a ranch by two painters.
Exhibit Paintings
At the Laguna avenue end of the festival grounds is hung a special exhibition of paintings by noted Laguna Beach artists. The pictures are housed in a special building where the painters will hold a reception and tea each afternoon.

Andrew S. Hall, chairman of the executive committee, said last night there were close to 2000 persons inside the festival grounds at one time.
The big feature for tomorrow will be an equestrian parade through the streets by more than 100 horsemen and a program of cowboy stunts at Los Amigos Riding club in Laguna canyon. In the evening there will be open house at the Community club.
An entertainment is given each evening in the festival grounds.
The following boys and girls pressed into service by Mrs. Don Wilbur, served as pages for the pageant: Nellie Stein, Bob New-

HEARING SET FOR ANAHEIM RANCHER

J. F. Draper, 38, Anaheim rancher, charged with assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder, was arraigned before Judge Chris Pann in justice court yesterday and had his preliminary hearing set for August 30.
Draper was released from the county jail yesterday by posting a $1000 bond, after bail had been reduced from $2000 by Judge Pann. He was arrested August 21 by Santa Ana police after he entered his estranged wife's apartment and threatened her with a gun. During the altercation, Howard Vaughn, used car dealer, came down the hall of the apartment house at 601-1-2 West Fourth street and was also menaced by Draper.

210 REQUESTS ON HOME LOANS TOTAL $500,000

Residents of Santa Ana are responding in increasing numbers to make applications for loans under the Home Loan Act and at the end of the first three weeks in Santa Ana, the office has received 210 loan applications aggregating more than $500,000, it was announced today by H. M. Secrest, supervisor of the Santa Ana office at 414 North Main street.
The average loan request is about $3000, Secrest declared. The largest volume of business was handled last week and Secrest predicted that here would be another increase in the next few days. Mortgagees are becoming convinced that the government bonds are sound and are willing to accept them, Secrest said.
Appraisers will be sent to Santa Ana within the next few days, it was learned. The first applications to be appraised will be emergency cases where foreclosure is threatened.

MAKE PROTEST ON HANDLING OF U. S. FUNDS

Orange county's interests in the battle for reallocation of $15,004,324 federal relief funds are being looked after by the Southern California Economic Council, according to Supervisor W. C. Jerome. Representatives of the council, and city and county officials of Los Angeles are meeting today with Earl Lee Kelly, state director of public works in an effort to force reallocation of the money which at present is being included in the state highway department budget neither the letter nor the spirit of the law making possible the federal application, is being complied with. Jerome said this morning that the federal fund was never intended for inclusion in state budgets.

The fund was for distribution to counties after consideration of the relative need for employment in such counties.
Under the state highway commission proposal the money has been included in the highway department budget for the next biennium and will mean the loss of thousands of dollars that might be expended for unemployment relief, Jerome declared.

Orange county has been allocated $148,300 in the highway commission budget of which $350,000 would have been returned to the county in any event. This amount would have been returned as payment of gasoline tax, motor vehicle license and other fees. Jerome estimated that of the entire Orange county allocation only $52,000 could possibly qualify as federal relief money.

Dr. Warner Will Speak for Club

The Rev. George A. Warner will be the speaker tonight at the meeting of Santa Ana Twenty-Third club to be held in Ketter's starting at 8:30 o'clock.

In addition to the talk by Dr. Warner the clubmen will be entertained with a number of vocal selections by Frank Pierce. The musical portion of the program was arranged by Dr. Horace Leasing and John Knox secured the speaker for the evening.

PROTECTION SOUGHT BY WHOLESALERS

Proposal of an ordinance to protect their interests against Los Angeles and other out of the county peddlers from coming into Santa Ana and offering their stocks at prices which they assert cannot be met, was discussed at a meeting of the Orange County Wholesale Fruit and Vegetable dealers at the office of the Western Wholesale Fruit company here last night.

A. Cavalli, manager of the Santa Ana Merchants association was present and made a short talk in which he said his association would make a survey of other cities to ascertain what action is being taken to protect wholesalers. He suggested that the Long Beach ordinance might be used as a model for the proposed ordinance in Santa Ana.

EVANGELIST TALKS ON 'CHURCH EXODUS'

FULLERTON, Aug. 28.—At the afternoon meeting at the Fullerton Gospel tabernacle of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, 124 East Commonwealth avenue, Sunday, the Rev. W. A. Staub, district evangelist, spoke on the subject, "Turning the World Upside Down."

The Christians, after the Day of Pentecost, made such a stir in the world by their straight preaching and holy living that they were accused of turning the world upside down, and the same thing will happen today when Christians live as Christians should live," he said.

At the night service he spoke on the subject, "The Exodus of the Church," a sermon on the second coming of Christ, especially concerning the rapture of the church, as described in I Thessalonians 4:13-18. He spoke of certain signs of the times that point toward the great tribulation period. Each thing mentioned as yet to come he based on certain Bible prophecies.

Tonight Evangelist Bert Miller will give the fourth of a series of Bible studies on the Holy Spirit and His work in the world, etc. He will speak each night this week.

Walter Rich of Fullerton Seventh Day Adventist church completed their series of debates on the doctrines of the Bible last night, taking as their topic "The Law of God in the New Testament."

The Rev. Mr. Rich held that the law of the New Testament is that of the old, the ten commandments, while Evangelist Beam held that the old law with its moral projects still held, but was supplemented by Christ with a hundred other and fuller laws.

Members of the Adventist church provided the music for the session.

INFORMATION RUSHED HERE ON NEW STYLES

PARIS, Aug. 29.—Flaring basques, choker collars, lampshade skirts and slit bodices, are the outstanding features of the winter fashions now being displayed in Paris.

Long sleeved dinner dresses and evening sweaters are other important highlights.

Colorful fabrics, combining richness and softness, are used throughout. Exaggerated shoulders and eccentric sleeves are definitely banished. Skirts, except for sports, have a marked tendency toward greater length. The silhouette is freer and easier fitted to the knees, where fullness is introduced. Basques and penguins transfer emphasis from shoulders to hips.

Dropped shoulders, tie-back skirts and fuller bodices outlining bust chokers, recall the early years of the century. Long slashed sleeves, fur trimmed basques and slit bodices strike a medieval note. Profuse use of heavy ribbed ottoman materials including stiff taffeta definitely changes the silhouette since clothes have a tendency to stand away instead of clinging to the figure.

The Lucien Lelong collection provides the usual brilliant display of color, luxurians, offering creations where the silhouette line and color depend on harmonious

NEW CITY LAW ON POOL HALLS GOES IN EFFECT

A new city ordinance requiring pool halls to be closed between 12:30 and 4:30 a. m. was given a second reading and passed last night by the city council.

Pool hall operators found guilty of violating the ordinance will be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and will be liable to a fine of $300 or imprisonment in the county jail for three months, or both.

Although a midnight closing hour will be generally observed, pool hall owners requested that the ordinance read 12:30 a. m. so that anyone who paid for a game of pool before midnight would be entitled to finish. It will be agreed that no one shall be allowed to start playing or enter the halls after 12 p. m. Police have enforced a midnight hour in the past but there was no official ordinance.

Award Contract For Legal Ads

The Orange County Printing and Publishing company, publishers of the Santa Ana Register, was granted the contract for printing legal advertising for the city last night when the city council gave second reading and adoption to the printing contract.

The Register submitted the only bid for the work and will have the contract until August 1, 1934. The rates are the same as in effect last year, 45 cents per column inch for the first insertion, next five insertions and all subsequent insertions.

CITY INSURANCE WILL BE KEPT IN SANTA ANA

Answering a protest by Santa Ana bond underwriters and insurance bond brokers, the city council last night approved the policy of limiting bond and insurance business for the city to local residents and discontinuing the practice of allowing outside competition.

Attorney Fred Forgy, representing the underwriters, wrote to the council and asked that a new clause be inserted in future contracts. It was pointed out that a majority of other cities have regulations which prohibit outside brokers to operate and that Santa Ana concerns were at a disadvantage under this system.

Forgy recommended that a model clause adopted from the documents regarding the Metropolitan Water district be incorporated in future contracts. The clause, which was endorsed and approved by the council, is as follows:

"The bonds and insurance required by or incidental to the performance of this contract shall be obtained from and through authorized agents or brokers maintaining offices within the city, provided additional cost is not occasioned thereby."

LANDS IN JAIL AFTER MAKING GUN THREATS

As the aftermath of alleged threats against the lives of three men and a woman, James Vine, 31, of 521 East First street, La Habra, was arraigned before Judge H. L. Spence in Fullerton this morning on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit bodily harm.

Vine's preliminary hearing was set for September 3 at 10 a. m. The defendant failed to make bail of $1000 and was returned to the county jail.

Earlier this morning Vine appeared before Judge H. A. Robinson in La Habra on a charge of discharging a firearm within the city limits without a permit. He was sentenced to 30 days on this charge but the sentence was suspended and he was placed on probation for 90 days.

Vine has been employed as a mechanic by the La Habra Citrus association for a number of years. According to reports, he had been moody for some time and yesterday made threats against a woman employee. Learning of the episode, M. D. Dunt, association manager, discharged Vine. Yesterday afternoon, it is reported, Vine returned to the packing house armed with a gun and threatened Dunt and Lee Price, another employee of the association. When Officer Chester Riley was called, Vine locked himself in a small office room and threatened to shoot anyone coming near, it is said.

Riley forced the door open and as he entered, Vine shot at his feet, according to reports. Riley disarmed the man and took him to the county jail. The felony charge against Vine was sworn out by Officer Riley.

The request of Mrs. Mabel R. Pearl, 306 Cypress street, that she be given a refund on her apartment house license because she sold the property after the three month license had been in effect only 23 days, was denied by the city council last night.

FOOTBALL MOBILIZES SAINTS AGAINST TORRANCE

Stars Close Disastrous Season

TORRANCE'S TERRORS HERE FOR LAST TIME BEFORE SERIES

Torrance's terrible Terrors, scourge of the National Night league, come here tonight for a game that, appropriately enough, closes Santa Ana's 1933 night baseball season.

The Might Men of Swat, as the first-half champions are known among the nocturnal circuit, are setting ready for their playoff series with Huntington Beach and will have their forces intact for one last serious effort before "bearing down" against the Oilers. Torrance has had a rather desultory second-half, but the "No Poodle" sign will be out tonight.

Louie (The Great) Neva, the Babe Ruth of night ball, may not pitch for the Terrors as Manager "Spud" Murphy wants his big-shot to be in the best of shape for the playoffs, but Louie will be in the lineup somewhere and may take a whirl on the mound just to loosen up for the Huntington Beach inaugural. Roy (Pete) Harris, who will be Torrance's No. 2 runner for the series, is scheduled to do most of the work against Santa Ana. His fast one is about as good as Neva's.

Torrance's bevy of long-distance hitters made a joke of the national league's first-half, at one time during the run enjoying a 13-game winning streak. Louie Neva has hit 16 homers in official league games and many others in exhibition contests. Hal Forney, the big outfielder who will play a backfield position for Howard Jones at S. C. this fall, has blasted 13 homers. Brother Paul Neva has made 8, including two that cleared the left field fence at Santa Ana's Bowl. He is the only National league player to do that this year.

Santa Ana has had a most discouraging season, one that has included five defeats by Anaheim.

and four by Torrance, so the club could leave a pleasant memory with the fans by turning back the Terrors just once. Lack of real hitting throughout, and the absence of pitching early in the year cost the team many of its setbacks. Defensively, the Stars lost nothing by comparison with any club in the wheel.

Manager "Eeny" Wilcox will throw his strongest lineup against the invaders in the desperate hope of finishing the second-half with a .500 percentage. Wilbur Stinchfield will pitch, and Ed Daley and Tommy Young will be back in the fold at first and third bases, with George Preble and "Memphis" Hill rounding out the infield and Tom Denney, Rod Ballard and "Chub" Sears patrolling the outer regions.

All other teams also wind up their seasons tonight, Anaheim at Huntington Beach, Westminster at Whittier. With the championship in the bag, Huntington Beach plans to give "Chico" Sabella a night off, so Howard Morning will start in the box. It will be "Joe Rodgers" Night" and Huntington Beach fans will pay homage to the city's little skipper who gave the club its first pennant.

British Girl Succeeds In Strait Swim

LONDON, Aug. 29.—(UP)—Miss Sunny Lowry today swam the English channel from Cape Gris Nez, France, to St. Margaret's bay, England, in 15 hours 39 minutes. She was the first swimmer to make the crossing since 1930.

Miss Lowry entered the water at the Cape Gris Nez at 6:36 p.m. yesterday. She arrived well behind the record for women made by Gertrude Ederle in 1926—14 hours, 31 minutes. The men's record is in dispute. Some record books credit Vansledright, Sprague newspaper mechanic, with a 10 hour, 45 minute swim in 1927. Others credit Georges Michel, French baker, for his 11 hours, 5 minute trip in 1926.

Miss Lowry was the first successful channel swimmer since Miss Peggy Duncan of South Africa swam from Gris Nez to South Foreland Sept. 1, 1930. The last man to cross was Jack Helmy of Egypt who crossed in 1928 after so many tries that the books stopped recording them.

FOSTER RANKS JOCK CRUICKSHANK SIXTH IN U.S.

BY MICHAEL J. FOSTER
(I. N. S. Sports Writer)
NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—(INS)—Helen Jacobs, No. 1; Helen Wills Moody, No. 2.

That is certain to be the way the 1933 American tennis rankings for women will start off when the ranking committee of the U. S. L. T. A. gets through with its selections at the annual meeting next winter.

Princess Helen's successful defense of her National title automatically assured her of the number one spot. For the first time since she was rated behind Molla Bory, the great Moody will have to be content with the "runner-up" position.

Selection of the eight other stars, however, who, with the two Helens, will occupy posts in the elite first ten, is expected to give the ranking committee considerable trouble.

Alice Marble Third
Who to rank as topnotchers should be fairly easy; the same stars were always to be found in the round of eight at the major Eastern tournaments.

Despite her 6-0, 6-2 loss to Sarah Palfrey at Seabright, however, Alice Marble, the San Francisco blonde who came so near to putting Betty Nuthall out of the Nationals, should get the No. 3 post.

Victor at Longwood and Essex. In both of whose finals she conquered Carolin Babcock, the present third-ranking player of the country. Miss Marble's record is topped only by those of the two Berkeley Helens. Her Seabright failure "as her one bad performance of the season."

Sarah Palfrey, on the strength of her conquest of Helen Jacobs at Seabright, after she had beaten Miss Marble and the Baroness Levi, rates the No. 4 spot, the same place she was awarded after her brilliant 1930 achievements. Splendid play in the Wightman Cup series, where she bested Peggy Sorviren in the singles and paired with Miss Jacobs to win in the doubles also, enhances the Palfrey record.

Miss Marble Fifth
The place behind Boston Sarah belongs to Carolin Babcock. The sensation of 1930 won at Agawam, went to the Longwood and Essex finals, and did well in the Nationals, although she came a cropper against Virginia Rice at Easthampton.

Steady-going, serious Josephine Cruickshank rates the No. 6 spot. On her consistent play all season, including fine wins at Rye and Forest Hills, and a good showing against the champion in the Nationals, "Midge" Van Ryn, a strong player if not a championship winner, the Baroness Maud Levi, a quarter-finalist at Forest Hills and a semi-finalist at Seabright; Virginia Rice, with several good match wins to her credit, and Mae Ceurvorst, a semi-finalist at Rye, get the four positions behind Miss Cruickshank, in that order.

Of the 1932 first ten, Mrs. Anna Harper, Mrs. Marjorie Painter and Virginia Hillery drop out. None was active during the 1933 season.

SHAKEUP LIKELY UNLESS STARS DO BETTER NEXT SEASON

Santa Ana's struggling Stars have reached journey's end. Against Torrance tonight, they close their most disappointing season since night baseball became an important attraction here in 1926.

There is no disguising the fact that Santa Ana failed miserably to play up to the high standard of near-perfection to which Santa Ana fans long had been accustomed. Games were lost that might have been won; the club slumped distressfully, until it wilted to a seasonal percentage of approximately .400. Only Fullerton did worse.

In the pioneer days of the lamp-light game these defeats would have been laughed off, ignored. But, in lieu of other sports, Santa Ana adopted night ball as its major summertime entertainment, and made the ball club virtually its standard-bearer. The game was taken seriously; numerous defeats caused genuine dismay.

Manager "Eeny" Wilcox was held responsible only by those who do not realize baseball's caprices. Wiser and more analytical fans who understand baseball's uncertainties are not inclined to heap blame on the little catcher's shoulders. Wilcox may be a bit stubborn in his likes and dislikes, but he is no seer and he could not foretell the sudden and inexplicable collapse of a comparatively young ball team. No Babe Ruth, he could not drive home runs enough to win those 12 games that were lost by the margin of a single tally.

But in view of Santa Ana's claim to being the chief patron of night baseball, and its familiarity with success, there seems justification for the general demand for a better showing next year—even if this requires a housecleaning.

Six games behind the first-place New York Giants today, the Braves are riding a winning streak while the league-leaders apparently are beginning to slump. In 27 games, the Braves have won 21 times; the Giants in their last four contests have lost three and tied one.

The Giant lead is built on triumphs over second division clubs. Have been over the four lowest teams on the circuit while the Braves have captured their series with every team but two—the third-place Chicago Cubs and the next-to-last Phillies.

Another thing in Boston's favor is the fact that they have to meet these teams only eight times—Chicago three and Philadelphia five. The Giants have 25 of their remaining 37 contests of the season with the four teams that have been over the four lowest teams on the circuit while the Braves have captured their series with every team but two—the third-place Chicago Cubs and the next-to-last Phillies.

Ballard and Denney are brilliant outfielders, always in mental and physical condition to play 100 per cent baseball. Wilcox is still best of the backstops. Daley had a year at first base and Young was a defensive revelation at third. Young Stinchfield showed splendid possibilities in the box. Perhaps with increased determination or a few changes—the Stars will star again in '34.

Big Jim Musick has headed east for his second season of professional football with the Boston Redskins. He motored to Chicago, where the Boston club will practice, with a squad of players. Mrs. Musick, also a Santa Ana, will reside with her mother in San Francisco until her fullback-husband returns in January.

The University of Southern California has admitted Jim Daneri, javelin-throwing captain of Santa Ana's junior college track squad. Daneri should be a valuable addition to the Trojan bandwagon. Specializing in the spear event, he should be past the 200-foot figure consistently. He threatened to mark last spring while dabbling around with most every other event on the program.

BROWNING DEFEATS STEIN, WINS TITLE
—LOS ANGELES, Aug. 29.—(UP)—Jim Browning, 235-pound Missouri matman, retained his claims to the world heavyweight crown last night by pinning Sammy Stein of New York in two-out-of-three falls before 10,000 fans at Wrigley field.

The match was endorsed by the state athletic commission, thus insuring Browning's recognition as undisputed champion. The Missourian hurled his opponent through the ropes to capture the first fall in 21:59, dropped the second on a tackle in 7:15 and clinched the match in short order—4:02—by applying a double armlock.

DAVE WEBB IS LEADING CITY LEAGUE HITTER

Shattering all records for the lifetime of the Santa Ana City league, established nearly a decade, Dave Webb of Hoffman's Rebottomery compiled a batting average of .451 for the season just completed.

Webb was accredited with 28 hits in 43 official times at bat, and the steady totto of his bludgeon materially assisted his club to win the second-half championship.

Elwood Rittner of the First Baptists, who finished second to Webb, closed with a percentage of .500. Merle Urbine of Hoffman's was third with .486, followed in order by Walter Camp of the Elks, Louis Kuhn of the First National bank and Ernie Ackner of the Elks.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—(UP)—If the Boston Braves hope to win the National league pennant, this week is their magnificent opportunity.

'CATS' PROLONG COUNTY SERIES WITH 12-5 WIN

Maybe a cat has nine lives after all. The Green Cats of Santa Ana hope so.

Getting their first stay of execution last night, the "Cats" defeated Huntington Beach at the Municipal Bowl, 12 to 5, and thereby prolonged the series for the Orange County league championship. Huntington Beach now holds a two-to-one edge, with the play-off to be continued at Huntington Beach Thursday night.

Santa Ana made merry with three Oiler pitchers in scoring its first victory of the series. Nassar Maloof, a southpaw, was the first victim. He gave up five runs in three innings. Outfielder Peltzer was next. Even less effective, he lasted four heats. Jim Coates, the Oilers' ace, who had held the Cats to a total of two runs in two complete games, worked the eighth inning and was tapped for three runs and three hits.

Lyle Morse started for Santa Ana but was so wild and straggled that Manager Joe Harless lifted him after two innings in favor of Mearl Yonel, who turned in an exceptionally steady game the rest of the way.

Ray Hapes, the Cats' utility star who caught most of the game, was Santa Ana's attacking star. He rammed two long doubles into the left field bleachers and either scored or accounted for six runs. Lyle Morse also got three hits.

Bill Gardner, veteran Oiler outfielder, hit a home run off Yonel with none aboard in the seventh. The box score:

EAST'S BEST HORSES WILL RUN ON COAST

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 29.—(UP)—California race tracks, as soon as and if, they whip themselves into shape will be the Mecca for many of the best horses in the east, Chairman Carleton Burke of the state racing commission said on his return from Chicago and New York.

"At Saratoga I found leading owners and breeders intensely interested in the revival of racing in California," Burke said. "Eastern horses from the very best eastern stables will be running here provided the tracks and sponsorship are high class."

"Naturally we are going to have to compete with the Florida tracks, but it is an established fact that horses which run well in Florida do not for climatic reasons, do well when they get farther north. That is a distinct advantage for California whose horses have shown up extremely well in eastern competition."

"I was sorry—"
"Lydia, did you go into your miss' bedroom before or after you answered that bell?" Dundee asked with sudden sharpness.
"I did not! I didn't even know she was in her bedroom, until I saw her sitting at her dressing-table dead." The harsh voice heeled over the last word, but it did not shake.
"And just when did you first see her—after she was dead?"
"I was sitting in the kitchen, thinking something else might be dead. My jaw had begun to ache, smelling fierce, and I don't know

"How long I set there. Then I heard a scream. It sounded like it came from Nita's—Miss Nita's bedroom, and I run along the back hall that leads from the kitchen to her room. I heard a lot of people running, and yelling. Nobody paid any attention to me." "You came into the room?" "No, sir, I did not. I slopped in the doorway. I heard Mr. Sprague say she was dead. I was sick and dizzy anyway, and I couldn't move for a minute. I sort of slipped down to the floor, and I guess I must have passed out. And then I was sick to my stomach, and—I don't seem to care if I never wake up again."

"Why, Lydia?" Dundee asked gently.

"Because she was the only friend I had in the world, and I couldn't have loved her better if she had been my own child," Lydia answered. And the stern voice had broken at last. "I was still there in the back hall when a cop came and

And then that man"—and she pointed to Captain Brown—"said I could go and lie down. He helped me over the basement stairs."

Dundee tapped his teeth with the ring pencil which he had kept so easy that evening—tapped them ring and thoughtfully. Then:

"Tydin, did you see anyone—anyone at all—from your basement room window before you answered Mrs. Dunlap's ring?"

SAN CLEMENTE CAMPAIGN FOR NRA SUCCESS

SAN CLEMENTE, Aug. 29.—Every home owner in San Clemente will have signed a consumer's pledge card by this evening, according to Mayor Thomas F. Murphy. The mayor and City Engineer W. A. Ayers, recently appointed administrator for the city, have been making a canvass, assisted by Dan Mulhern, president of the chamber of commerce.

There was no hurrah campaign, according to Mayor Murphy. There are certain places that every resident of San Clemente goes to during the week. These places were covered by the administrators and they had no trouble in getting the pledge cards signed. Ayers had a list of all residents, taken from the city records, and as each card was signed the name was checked off.

Believing that all business houses had signed the original agreement with President Roosevelt, the administrators and chamber head were surprised to learn this morning that 10 out of 25 had failed to comply with the president's request. Most of those who failed to sign did so through a misunderstanding, it was said. Because they did not employ at least three persons, these individual store owners or employers of less than three, believed they were not required to sign.

"Strictly speaking that is so in a city of less than 2500 population," said Mayor Murphy. "But where the blue eagle is used, these places of business must sign the agreement and abide by the codes in their respective lines. Everyone is entitled to use the blue eagle, no matter how many men employed, but he must sign the agreement and turn it in to Postmaster B. H. Latham at the post office."

Miss Frances Underhill, assistant postmaster, has listed the names for the honor roll, which will be posted this week. Dan Mulhern was the first to sign the agreement. The others are John L. Riley, Ralph E. Swigart, O. R. Robertson, D. R. Holloway, Leo Smith, Elbert Hymer, Fred Oathout, Al Anderson, C. W. May for the Bank of America; Earl H. Moore, Walter K. Beilke, Ethel Loudermarch, Union Oil company, W. J. Umland for the Southern Counties Gas company, Emma Servus, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Retke, E. L. Hollaway, Hazel K. Lashbrook, H. Latham, Elbert B. Woodman, Roy R. Divil, J. W. Heinicke, Antonio Travaglini and F. W. Parsons. As soon as additional cards are signed, the names will be added to the roll. The administrators hope to have it complete before Friday.

DANA POINT AIDS RECOVERY CAMPAIGN

DANA POINT, Aug. 29.—Postmaster John M. Lyle and J. W. Groom, attorney, who were named NRA administrators for this section of the Southern Orange county area a week ago, reported today that all residents who are not actually away from their homes for a visit have signed consumers' pledge cards and Dana Point is 100 per cent behind the Roosevelt plan.

According to the administrators, there were no refusals. There are not many business houses in Dana Point but all of them have signed the president's agreement.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG -- News Behind The News --

WASHINGTON
By George Durne

SABOTAGE
The first faint smudges from powerful backfires against President Roosevelt's recovery program are beginning to appear over the horizon.

All evidence points to their having been surreptitiously ignited by die-hard elements in the realm of big business and high finance. Fortunately these subterranean acts of social and economic sabotage are NOT being inspired by a majority. The men behind America's biggest corporations realize the nation must sink or swim with Mr. Roosevelt's revolutionary experiment.

Unfortunately the financial strength of those behind this sniping is sufficient to make itself felt to some degree.

General Hugh Johnson, boss of NRA, ever sensitive to the smell of kindling charged with dynamite, was quick to detect this under cover defection. He is resorting to the time-honored custom of fighting fire with fire.

The President has cast the die. Johnson intends to gamble boldly until we win our way out—or, and he won't admit this possibility—we lose badly.

STETHOSCOPE
Even in some sections of the press Johnson has noted a trend that would indicate the honeymoon is over and he will have to fight vigorously to gain each forward step.

One of the most influential metropolitan newspapers in the East recently editorially attacked NRA's proposal to boycott tradesmen who didn't display the Blue Eagle. On top of this came an editorial pronouncement in a chain of papers that Johnson might better abandon his "hard-boiled" tactics with potential but reluctant code-signers.

And finally, formal instructions went out from New York headquarters of one of the largest news services henceforth to treat NRA stories "more objectively."

The pugnacious General met these open challenges in the press immediately.

He took to the air and informed the radio audience again they should buy only from those who had adhered to the recovery program. Further, he commented on the fact NRA had asked all newspapers to reprint in advertisement form the "President's Re-employment Program."

"Some of them did it," he asserted aggressively.

Johnson has a highly attuned stethoscope laid on the muffled pulsations from the anti-NRA movement within industry.

Be it remembered that before he took over the job of coaxing American industry into paying higher wages for shorter hours he was one of Barney Baruch's right-hand men. Baruch from his in-scrutable position in the world of higher finance has long laid an uncanny finger on situations while they were still in the incubator stage.

Rest assured that advance warnings of attack are flowing steadily into the Blue Eagle's nest.

INEVITABLE

There is one industry affording the Roosevelt Administration a real heart-sache.

This one is bituminous coal, already told bluntly by the President it was obviously on the decline and had caused government more trouble than any other in recent years. If the soft coal men are to be believed they have reached the end of their rope. They say they have been living on capital for some time and simply cannot stand an additional burden of increased wages and shortened hours.

Mr. Roosevelt told leading bituminous operators they were over-producing. This was nothing new to them. They knew it only too well.

As matters stand now the bituminous operators are looking at a federally-written code only because they have nothing else to do.

But they have an answer. It is to accept the inevitable against which they have been fighting for years and close down about 50 per cent. This would solve the problem of over-production and eventually bring about economic readjustment of the industry.

Such a move would wreak havoc with the general idea of putting more men back to work.

MIDDLE

John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, is fighting this contingency to the last ditch. He has just doubled his membership, drawing almost entirely from hitherto non-union fields, on a promise of better working conditions.

"Ah me," say the operators, "there have been too many of us for a long time. Right now bins that should be filled in anticipation of winter are only 25 per cent of last year. We'll have to give up the ghost."

Uncle Sam seems to be in a very uncomfortable middle.

NOTES

If you don't think NRA is deadly serious did you listen in the other evening when Ruth Bryan Owen, our first lady Minister, broadcast an appeal to American women to stand by the Eagle from her diplomatic post in Copenhagen, Denmark?

... Mrs. Owen, daughter of the famous Commoner, is regarded as aces-up with the Democratic Party in contesting feminine support even though she has to do it by remote control. They do say that when General Johnson gets in the presence of Barney Baruch, his long-term boss, the NRA chief loses a lot of that hell-fire bluster that has won him so much publicity of late. . . . And speaking of Johnson, the newspaper men who heaped so much flowery publicity on his secretary, Miss Frances Robinson, seem to have soured on the diminutive young lady. . . . Fame is fleeting. Judging from the atmosphere here.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

HORNETS

General Johnson certainly heaved a rock into a hornet's nest when he assailed those remarks about the banks jeopardizing NRA by falling down on their credit job.

Nothing that has happened since March has stirred such a trenchant peeve among New York bankers. Up to now they have been on the defensive—swallowing the hefty bricks that came their way almost without protest. But now their backs are up and they intend to let it out on their own lines and let the chips fall where they may.

This time they sincerely feel they are entitled to claim a foul. Typical remarks of leading bankers—expurgated—run as follows:

"Do those birds think we're taking three-sixteenths of 1 per cent on our money for fun? They want us to finance other people's red ink. That would put us right back where we were on March 4 and damned if we're going to do it!"

And again: "How could we make the kind of loan they want us to and not have our depositors walk out on us? If we were so half-witted as to hand out credit to everyone who asks for it the depositors would be dumb if they didn't."

A leading bank had the following specific case to deal with. A customer wanted to borrow $200,000 for three months. He showed a good statement for the past six months—in the black for the first time in three years. They asked him why he wanted the money. He answered that his costs were going up under the NRA and he wanted to be sure to be able to meet them. The bank asked him whether he was sure he could meet the loan in six months. He said no, frankly, he wasn't. So they turned him down.

Now the bank inquires with heat whether General Johnson would have considered that a fair risk to take with its depositors' money?

PLATFORM

The local banks have adopted a firm informal platform for themselves which says: Depositors first, stockholders second and borrowers a poor third. It was not always thus in the golden twenties but it seems to be straight goods now. And they say they will give a swell imitation of Horatius at the Bridge if anyone tries to pry them off it.

VILLAIN

Of course the bankers have an explanation of their own for the shortage of funds available for industry which General Johnson claims is threatening the success of NRA. They say the trouble is of NRA. They say the trouble is that would-be borrowers really want long term capital—not short term credit—and they add that it is not a bank's function to provide capital.

And then they name the villain—the Securities Act. They insist that industry should lay its woes at the door of a law which makes normal financing impossible. And they hope that industry hollers its head off about it.

FEDERAL RESERVE

In the present banking frame of mind the Federal Reserve could buy Government securities until the cows came home and pile up excess reserves to the moon without swelling the volume of commercial credit. So the $35,000,000 in governments bought by the Federal Reserve banks last week with other purchases to come this week and next will amount to little more than a gesture to appease the inflationists.

It has its uses in that connection. The fact that credit expansion motions are taking place will help to keep ex-creditors and devaluators quiet until the government is ready to consider their ideas seriously. Mere announcement of the Federal Reserve program gave Wall Street the old inflation thrill.

DEADLOCK

As far as the local banking community can learn, its views on credit are pretty generally shared by other banks throughout the country. That makes it look like a deadlock all around.

What's the answer? No one here pretends to know. The banks say they cannot even consider the types of loans NRA wants them to make except under one condition. That would be for the Federal Reserve banks to guarantee and if necessary take over the collateral offered for such loans. It is faintly possible that something of this nature will be worked out as an emergency measure. The determination not to budge from the no-risk lending policy doesn't seem likely to yield to psychological or other pressure.

ACUTE

The problem is all the more acute because the local NRA committee is tangling with the banks already. In certain cases loans were called the moment the borrower signed the code. The banks maintain these were marginal loans and increased costs under the code made them bad risks. They admit their action isn't noble but they are awfully positive it is common sense. And they ask "so what?"

It would seem to be Washington's move. The moving isn't coming from here.

NAZIS

Word reaches down-town New York that Hitler is losing no sleep over Austria. The Nazi-Austrian situation shapes to an early victory for Hitler. He has to have Austria to strengthen himself at home and is out to get Germany's old ally. Neither is he worried concerning protests from other powers. His aim is to sweep the Austrian government out of his way by forced resignations. The elections will then give him a free hand.

PEACE

Private information comes from Italians here that Mussolini has scaled down his next year's naval expenditures by $10,000,000—in a gamble on peace. He's even out to make friends with France by removal of his military threat to France's ally, Jugoslavia. The French need this because of her shortage of military recruits due to the low birth in the war years. (Copyright, 1933, McClure Newspaper Synd.)

UNMARRIED PERSONS REPORTED INFERIOR

PASADENA, Aug. 29.—Bachelors and unmarried women average definitely inferior to the rest of the population in mental and physical health, says the Human Betterment Foundation.

It points out that unmarried persons have a shorter expectation of life, a higher frequency of mental disease, and a larger representation in the jails and penitentiaries.

In spite of many individual exceptions, "the work of the world is done by normal, happily married people," the report declares; pointing out that the chances of marriage for a woman after the age of 30 are small; and that of the unmarried men over 30, a majority are handicapped in some way so that they are not desirable husbands.

There are 250,000 varieties of flowering plants on the British Isles.

Council Acts To Force Business License Payments

NEWPROCEDURE WILL PROVIDE STIFF PENALTY

REGISTRATION FOR AQUEDUCT JOBS RE-OPENS

Rigid enforcement of a new business license ordinance was in prospect for the near future following action of the city council last night asking City Clerk Ed Vegely to draft new provisions for the present statute by next Monday night.

It was brought out in the discussion of the proposed measure that delinquent licensees are hard to collect because there is little or no penalty. Under the new ordinance, a merchant must pay double the license fee if he does not comply within a certain time limit. Following one visit of a license inspector, if the license is still unpaid, bench warrants will be issued, the merchant arrested for operating without a city license and prosecuted, it is planned.

The ultimate intention of the new plan is to eliminate much of the expense and confusion in the city clerk's office now caused by the collection system. License inspectors are forced to make three and four visits in many cases and still do not secure the money, Vegely stated. Many business firms are many months in arrears on the $12 annual fee, which is paid in four quarterly installments.

Under the proposed system endorsed by the city council, and expected to be recommended by Vegely, first, second and third notices will be sent to each merchant, advising him when licenses are due and the penalty for failure to pay. If the notices are disregarded, the visit of the collector and the serving of warrants will follow immediately.

It was pointed out by councilmen that although the plan was rigid and might work hardships in some cases, some type of definite policy had to be established. They predicted that after several violations were brought into court, the majority of merchants would not hesitate in paying license fees on time.

Although the present license ordinance specifies that the license shall be posted in a conspicuous place in the business establishment, it was declared before the council that this action was not being complied with. No violations will be permitted under the new code, it is said, and it is hoped that the necessary arrangements can be made to have the plan in effect by the next collection date on October 1.

NEW CITY DOG LICENSING ORDINANCE, REDUCING FEE TO $1, IN EFFECT TODAY

Santa Ana's new dog license ordinance, reducing the fees, changing the percentage of income for the poundkeeper and making it a misdemeanor to allow a vicious dog to run at large, was in effect today following the passage of the emergency measure by the city council last night.

By unanimous vote, the councilmen voted that the ordinance should go into force immediately to curb any possibility of an increase in dog bites and complaints of roaming dogs. The poundmaster has been instructed to start enforcing the license regulations since only a few hundred dog owners in the city have taken out licenses for their animals in recent months.

One of the main provisions in the new statute is the reduction of dog license fees from $2 to $1 per year for all types of dogs over six months of age. The poundmaster will keep 75 per cent of the dog license fee and turn over 25 per cent to the city and the present arrangement of a monthly salary of $60 and keeping of 20 per cent of receipts will be discontinued.

If a dog which is tagged is picked up by the poundmaster, the owner is to be notified and may secure his dog without cost. If the dog is picked up without a tag, three notices will be posted, one each at the post office, city hall and pound, containing a brief description of the dog. Unless redeemed and the license paid in three days, the dog will be destroyed or sold. Of this income, the city and poundmaster will each receive 50 per cent.

In order to redeem a dog, $1 must be paid for the capture of the dog, $1 for redemption and 25 cents to the poundmaster for feeding the animal, all of which is kept by the poundkeeper except the 25 cents claimed by the council from the license fee.

Any person, firm or corporation owning any vicious dog and permitting it to run at large, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and if convicted, can be fined not to exceed $300 or be confined in the county jail not to exceed 90 days, or both fined and jailed.

CITY GETS USE OF BIG DITCH FOR 5 YEARS

HOSPITAL AT ANAHEIM MAY BE ABANDONED

Contracting for the use of a drainage ditch south of Santa Ana to dispose of overflow and waste storm waters, the city council signed an easement agreement last night with the Delhi Drainage district granting free use of the ditch for the next five years.

The city has been using the drainage facilities of the district free of charge for the past 10 years, it was pointed out in a communication from Attorney A. W. Rutan, representing the district. A contract was signed in 1923 for the next five years and nothing was done subsequently to officially renew the service. Unless some agreement were reached before September 3, the city of Santa Ana would secure a prescriptive right to the use of the large ditch because by that time it would have been used over the required five year period.

Rutan said that although the easement was made entirely without prejudice, failure to sign it would bring an immediate lawsuit against the city. He pointed out that the cost of court action would be avoided with the signing of the papers. There was no objection to the action, since it will be possible at any time to make other arrangements for the disposal of the water.

Opera Stars on Final Hollywood Bowl Programs

Three Metropolitan Opera stars, Grace Moore, Richard Crooks and Mary Lewis will contribute to the brilliant closing programs this week of this summer's symphonies under the stars in the Hollywood Bowl. Miss Moore is the first of the trio to be heard. The soprano will be the feature of Thursday night's concert in the Bowl.

On Friday night a special added program will bring Crooks, whose tenor voice already is a great favorite with Bowl audiences, as soloist. Mary Lewis, soprano, will sing on Sunday night as one of the highlights of the closing program of the twelfth annual Bowl season.

Each of the final concerts of the week will be conducted by Bernardino Molinari, gifted Italian director. In addition to the soloists, the week brings another colorful ballet production, "Tales of Vienna Woods," danced to the Strauss music by Francesca Braggiotti and her ensemble. This will be presented on Saturday night. Tonight Molinari conducts an all-orchestral event featuring popular symphonic numbers.

Capistrano Luncheon Honors September Bride-elect

Friends who have a special interest in preparations for the marriage on Saturday, September 8, of Miss Dorothy Dodge of Costa Mesa and Byron Johnson of St. Louis, Mo., were guests at a party given Saturday in San Juan Capistrano. Hostesses were Mrs. Harlow Halladay and daughter, Miss Betty Halladay, who entertained in their home.

With the arrival of 1 o'clock, luncheon was served at a table with appropriate centerpiece was miniature bride and groom, flanked by tall white tapers. Other appointments were in pink. During the afternoon the group enjoyed a visit to San Juan Capistrano Mission.

Those present were the honoree, Miss Dorothy Dodge; her mother, Mrs. Donald Dodge; Mrs. Vivian Russell, who is to be maid of honor at the wedding; her mother, Mrs. Francis Russell, all of Costa Mesa, and the hostesses, Mrs. Halladay and Miss Betty Halladay. The latter is to be one of the bridesmaids at the September ceremony. Mrs. Pearce and daughter, Miss Ann Pearce, of Costa Mesa, are visiting in Tennessee, and were unable to attend the luncheon. Miss Pearce is to be a bridesmaid in the Johnson-Dodge ceremony.

Birthday Celebrants Are Complimented At Luncheon

Midsummer birthday dates of Mrs. John J. Vernon, 2020 Santiago street, and Mrs. J. B. Nelson of Long Beach, falling on August 29 for the former, and August 26 for the latter, have occasioned, in the past eight years, pleasant parties held alternately in this city and in Long Beach.

This year it was Dr. and Mrs. Nelson's pleasure to entertain, and they did so Sunday with a luncheon held in Villa Riviera, Long Beach, with Mr. and Mrs. Vernon and little daughter Betty Louise as their guests. The table was quite lovely, graced with a bowl of scabiosa in softly brilliant colors, and the luncheon menu included a beautifully decorated cake, suggesting the two birthday honorees.

The remainder of the afternoon and evening was spent in the Nelson home on Atlantic avenue, and the informal Sunday night supper menu featured another birthday cake. Many charming gifts were received by the two celebrants, who were school-day friends in their former home state of Indiana.

Sister Hostesses Have Luncheon for Former Easterners

Mrs. Albert MacMurdo and her sister, Mrs. Alice Morris Rotlier, were hostesses at a pleasant afternoon affair Saturday in the former's home, 1103 North Olive street. Mrs. MacMurdo and Mrs. Rotlier and their guests all are former teachers in schools of Lima, Ohio.

Luncheon was served at one table brightened with flowers from the home gardens. Hours following were especially enjoyable, spent as they were in reminiscing of experiences of teaching days in the east.

Sharing the hospitality of the sister hostesses were Miss Rebecca Avery, Miss Flo Bowers, Miss Zoe Bowers, Miss Clara Herr and Mrs. Kathryn Doser, all of Los Angeles and Mrs. Charles Bowyer of Orange.

Party Decorations Are Inspired by Exposition

Eloquent of her recent visit to the Century of Progress exposition in Chicago, were all details of entertaining late last week when Mrs. Adolph Erickson welcomed Calumet Past Presidents to her home, 1041 West Sixth street. Flowers which suggested the vivid setting given the fair were sent by Mrs. Oscar Kurtz, who expressed her "welcome home" to Mrs. Erickson in this pleasant fashion. Later the blossoms continued their mission of cheer when sent to St. Joseph's hospital for the pleasure of patients there.

Court whist was played, and to Mrs. Elva Hunt, scoring high, was presented a check of cards bearing pictures of exposition buildings. A souvenir spoon was second prize awarded Mrs. May Glaze, and Mrs. Katherine Ragan was consoled with a set of picnic forks, also exposition souvenirs. A similar set was presented Mrs. Glaze whose tally card bore a picture of the Ohio display in the famous Hall of States. Ohio was Mrs. Erickson's native state. Each guest received a souvenir of the exposition while to Mrs. C. E. Dixon and Mrs. Emma King Wassum were presented August birthday gifts from the "white elephant" assortment.

When guests were invited to the dining room for refreshments served by Miss Verena Bailey, daughter of the home, they found the table representing the railroad running between Santa Ana and Chicago, with a small train to stop at the various signals representing the states between California and Illinois. Bright colored lights suggested the special lighting system of the exposition.

Covers were laid for the hostess, Mrs. Erickson, and Mesdames Elva Hunt, May Glaze, C. E. Dixon, Emma King Wassum, Nancy Reed, Bertha Helmer, Edna Hannah and one guest, Katherine Ragan. All regretted that Mrs. Estelle Dresser was ill and unable to be present.

Co-Hostesses Assemble Friends for Shower On Bride-to-be Making Miss Ruth Breckenridge, charming fiancée of Gerald English, their incentive for entertaining, Mrs. Francis Harvey and Miss Martha Spaulding received a group of friends at an unusually pretty party of the past week, for which they were privileged to entertain in the home of Mrs. Harvey's sister, Mrs. A. R. Montgomery, 504 Hickory street.

Zinnias and dahlias, glowing with color, graced the home where bridge tables invited the guests to a lively contest. Those who did not care for cards turned their attention to needlework, piecing a quilt which later was presented to the bride-to-be. Mrs. Lyman Sargent scored high in bridge and received a suede box of stationery. Mrs. Mildred Decker with second high score, was rewarded with a linen guest towel in Italian cutwork design.

Coincident with the award of prizes, the hostesses produced an assortment of prettily wrapped packages for Miss Breckenridge, and the guests gathered close as she unwrapped and admired the many lovely gifts selected with a thought for her future home.

While the hostesses busied themselves re-arranging card tables with dainty Madeira linens for serving refreshments, guests were entertained by a succession of piano solos brilliantly played by Mrs. Ted Bullock. Later they were grouped in foursomes around the tables to enjoy a salad course followed by ices and cake served by the hostesses with the assistance of Mrs. Montgomery and Mrs. D. M. Jellis.

There were two out-of-town guests to share the hospitality of Mrs. Harvey and Miss Spaulding. Mrs. William Stroehlein of Alhambra, the former Verdelle Breckenridge, and Miss Dorothy Hastie of Los Angeles, shortly to wed Glenn Oaks.

Remaining guests were the honoree, Miss Breckenridge, Mesdames J. C. Breckenridge, Fred English, William Breckenridge, James Musick, Jack Patmor, Albert Scheetz, Lyman Sargent, Harold English, Mabel Cummings, Mildred Decker, Edwin T. McFadden, David M. Jellis, Donald McCullum, Ted Bullock, William Patterson, George Croft, A. R. Montgomery, the Misses Grace Anderson, Alta English, Ethel Kinley, Nellie Hammonette, Maxine Decker and Lena Brown.

Southland Social Club Stages Successful Supper Dance

Assembling at Club Palomar, Long Beach, Saturday night, members of Southern California Fifty-Fifty club spent a joyous evening in dancing to the rhythmic strains of the aptly named "Rhythm Makers," varied by the buffet supper served at 10:30 o'clock.

Since this club, as its name indicates, draws its membership from various Southland cities, the Saturday night party attracted members from many different points. Santa Ana was represented by Mr. and Mrs. J. Riley Huber, Miss Edna Laughlin, Messrs. Al. Fernandez, Frederick Kahen and Paul Beckman.

Others attending were Mr. and Mrs. Elton McCoy, Miss Ethelyn Granger and Bill Queale, Fullerton; Miss Imogene Saunders, Miss Doris Lee and Ewald Lemcke, Anaheim; Miss Anafred Jordan, Miss Karen Cooper and Frank Jordan, Beverly Hills; Miss Eileen Young, Huntington Beach, Gordon Richmond, Orange; Bert Peck, Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. Ross Ingram, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Redington, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hinkler, Miss Betty Bond, Miss Bibles Ross, Miss Florence Diller, Miss Blanche Oakie, Messrs. W. A. Wilcox Honored By Surprise Party On Natal Date

Because W. A. Wilcox of West Second street yesterday reached his seventy-fifth milestone, he and Mrs. Wilcox were special dinner guests last night of their son-in-law and only daughter, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. McMillan, 702 South Birch street.

Shortly after the little family party had completed the appetizing dinner menu, the doorbell rang, and Mr. Wilcox was asked to go to the door. To his complete surprise, he found, instead of the casual caller he expected, the other members of his family waiting to offer birthday greetings.

The happy evening that followed was shared by the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. McMillan, the honor guest; Mr. Wilcox and his wife; Mr. and Mrs. John Wilcox and children, Joan and Edmund; Mr. and Mrs. Elwayne ("Enny") Wilcox, and Mrs. Gertrude Wilcox and son, Billy. The happy evening was devoted to home reminiscences, varied by musical entertainment offered by John Wilcox. Ice cream and birthday cake added a final pleasant touch. Just two weeks ago the family had gathered for an equally happy celebration of the seventeenth birthday anniversary of Mrs. Wilcox, mother of the group of brothers and sister.

MIXING BOWL

EAT AND GROW SLIM Luncheon

Fresh Apple Salad:
1 large ripe apple
2 walnut meats, chopped
Lettuce hearts
2 Tbsps mineral oil
Mayonnaise
1 square Ry-Krisp
1 tsp. butter
Clear tea, no sugar
Calory total 311

Late August apples make delicious salads. I'd choose a Red Gravenstein or a big mellow Yellow Transparent. Peel and dice onto the lettuce hearts, sprinkle the two chopped walnut meats over the apple, then add the mayonnaise.

Your family, especially the children, will like this salad. Of course they will not be served mineral oil mayonnaise, neither will they get Ry-Krisp. For them the ordinary mayonnaise, and either toast, hot butter rolls, or muffins with jam and cheese.

Simple Treatment for Constipation
85 small dried prunes
1-2 ounce senna leaves
1 quart boiling water
Pour the boiling water over the senna leaves, cover the vessel and let steep for one hour. Soak the washed prunes in warm water for 2 hours, drain the prunes and transfer them to the senna tea (senna removed) and let stand in a warm place for 1 1/2 hours. Take 3 or 4 prunes and 1 Tbsp. of juice night and morning until bowels resume fairly regular habits.

TODAY'S RECIPE
Boiled Salad Dressing
In first bowl put:
2 eggs yolks
Juice of 1 lemon
1 cup salad oil
In second bowl put:
1 Tbsp. butter
3 Tbsps. flour
1 cup cold water
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. prepared mustard
(Contributed)

Prepare part 2 first: Cream soft butter with flour, add cold water, mustard, and salt and beat until it makes a smooth paste. Put this in a double boiler and cook until it thickens.

In the mixing bowl place the egg yolks, lemon juice and salad oil. Beat slightly to mix. When the cooked part is ready, turn it into the bowl and beat hard with egg beater until the dressing smooths out and becomes creamy and thick.

The contributor says that this salad dressing is delicious with all vegetable salads, potato, fruit, and cabbage salad (slaw). She adds whipped cream to thin it.

This salad dressing has 52 calories per tablespoonful if the quantity made measures 3 cupfuls. If less, say 2 1-4 cups, the total per Tbsp. would run to 75 calories . . . fat and energy-makers, of course.

Wednesday: Frozen Cheese Salad.
ANN MEREDITH.

"CHANDU" STAR HAD 16 YEARS LIFE ON STAGE

Robert Bixby, who plays the part of Bob Regent in "Chandu the Magician," presented over KREG daily except Sunday and Monday, at 6:45 in the evening and at 11 noon, is only 21 years old but has actually had 16 years of stage experience.

When he was but six years old, he was co-starred with Diane Walters in the play called "Bernard's Baby." He was selected for his unusual soprano voice at the age of 11 when he made his radio debut.

Two years later he returned to the stage, playing at the noted Elitch Gardens in Denver for two seasons with such celebrities as Frederick March, Sylvia Sydney, Isabel Elsom, Albert Hackett and C. Henry Gordon.

Since his arrival in Hollywood, Bob has appeared in several motion pictures besides playing the part of Bob Regent in "Chandu." He appeared in "Are These Our Children," "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," "Huddle" and several comedies.

His hobbies are swimming and horseback riding with Betty Lou Regent of the "Chandu" cast, otherwise Betty Webb. Bob and Betty first met during the casting of "Chandu" and have become fast friends—and there are rumors of an even warmer attachment between them.

CRIMINAL FORCING UNITS OF GOVERNMENT TO UNITE

"Rugged individualism" is giving way, in our economic order, to necessary group action. This is particularly true on the production and distribution end.

From the standpoint of government, however, there is still that insistent division into units which harks back to the days of yore, and that spells additional taxes for the taxpayer, division of authority for peace officers here and there, so that crime is all but protected by imaginary lines of demarcation between one governmental unit and another.

It is remarkable, in the light of our innumerable municipalities, the limited authority of constables, the authority of the sheriff and his deputies, of the chief of police and his group in cities, that there are as many criminals apprehended as there are.

Our form of government was erected "in the days," as President Roosevelt said in Dutchess county, "of the ox-cart." A peace officer would have time to go to his home, eat his noon day meal, take a nap and still reach a law violator before, with his slow moving vehicle, he might be able to get beyond the confines of the authority of the officer.

Today a crime is committed in the center of a big city—an automobile waits outside that is capable of doing 90 miles an hour. In a comparatively brief period of time he is out of the city, out of the county, across state lines and far away. We have national laws and state laws and county ordinances and city ordinances, besides the various interpretations of laws by the courts throughout the country.

All of this confusion and cross-wires is a direct aid to the criminal. There is need of centralized authority. There is need of criminal law being known and the same in all parts of the country. There should be a unification of forces.

Not only would this greater organization and unity aid directly in the protection of life and property from the criminal, but by a unified government innumerable inefficient and unnecessary officials could be eliminated and the taxpayers greatly relieved. This is on the administrative side of government.

Orange county, for practical purposes, is hardly larger than a township was 75 years ago. From the center of the county you can reach its furthest confines in 40 or 50 minutes. You could not have done that more quickly from the center of a township to its edge a generation ago. Why then, do we not recognize these facts and co-ordinate our government in harmony with our means of communication and transportation? The criminal is going to force us to do it.

Ancient English law, a writer informs us, recognized no less than 178 capital crimes. Had there been, in those days, neighbors who operated noisy lawn mowers at 6:30 a. m. the number doubtless would have been 179.

DEADLY GAS AFLOAT

The terrible storm on the east coast last week loosed a lot of cans containing deadly hydrocyanic gas which had been stored at the Quarantine station in Curtis Bay. The storeroom containing the cans was flooded and waves washed the cans into the harbor. People around about the harbor are busy salvaging whatever they can from the water. As widespread warning as possible has been given that whoever opens one of these cans will certainly be killed. There is no end to the terrible havoc the elements can inflict on poor humans. And the antics of the elements are so freakish as to be unpredictable particularly when they begin to rend asunder what man has put together.

One of the freaks of the storm was the putting out of the liberty light. The power house which supplies the Statue of Liberty with power was flooded and the light went out early one evening. Liberty, at that point, however was only eclipsed for a few hours, the power house being swabbed out sufficiently to function before dawn.

University professor says it's dangerous for man to marry after 30. How about before?

ONE JUDGE AN ACCOMPLICE IN CRIME

Two gangsters were shot and killed in a cafe last night in Los Angeles. They were shot by three other gangsters, who, in the most open, brazen and defiant manner, flaunted the law. They marched into the room, fired nine shots into the bodies of the two men, marched out, got into their car and drove off.

One of the men who was killed was a gangster who has been wanted for crimes, including one committed a decade ago, in which a man was robbed of $20,000 in cash. This gangster, Mackley, was one of those who got away at that time. In the pocket of this gangster, who has been wanted for this and other crimes, were found identification cards by five different police officials of New York and New Jersey. And then, in addition to all this, was a permit to carry a gun, issued to him by a judge of the surrogate court in New York City.

So the man not only could be armed with a gun, but he could be armed with the protection of the law in the act of carrying the gun. He could continue in his career of crime, protected by identification cards of police, protected by the permit from the judge of the court to carry a gun, protected by the gun itself, a menace to all honest, law abiding citizens everywhere.

This man has been wanted by the police for years, but right in the midst of it he is issued a permit to carry a gun by the judge of a court. Would it be too much to insist that officials who issue such permits as these shall be responsible for crimes that are committed by the men in the use of these weapons?

The judge who would issue a permit to carry a gun to such a character as that is, down in the heart of the matter, little better than the gangster himself. What is the influence, what is the connection, what is the inducement that would prompt a judge to grant to that kind of man such a privilege? Racketeering, gangsterism, murders, are challenges to the people to get to the bottom of this condition.

A DRAMATIC CLASSIC RECALLED

In Swanzy, N. H., where the scene of the play was laid, there is to be a revival of "The Old Homestead," which Denman Thompson made famous a generation ago.

Those somewhat past middle life will remember the charm of that play, and others depicting the same scenes and motives. There were a few shocking parts, as when one of the female characters smoked a cigarette and one of the male characters rolled out a vigorous "damn." We have gone so far beyond that in our modern plays, that such rakishness is very tame to us. But then the conventional censor frowned on such rudeness and crudeness.

The sexy stuff of today, both in the legitimate and on the screen, makes many long for a revival of those bucolic plays. The simple life of the country, the comedies and the tragedies of rural life, and the simple motif of these plays bring us much closer to real life than the psychologic drama of today. No doubt, many would welcome a general revival of these country plays.

Isn't it strange—just about the time a husband gets comfortable his wife starts house-cleaning again.

LONDON IN A DAY

Nothing like the American tourist had invaded London until a party of Germans the other day, according to a dispatch from London, wrested the record from visiting Americans. Americans by their terrific energy, their zealous determination to see everything as rapidly as possible so as to get it all covered in the time permitted by some diabolical tourist schedule, have astounded English people and left hotel personnel exhausted and resentful after an American invasion.

A party of Germans arrived in London in the morning and visited 102 places before tea time. They are reported to have seen Westminster Abbey in 30 seconds; they spent five minutes at the Tower of London; at Albert Hall they loitered 900 seconds. Apparently they returned home after tea. Whatever may be said about their hectic day, the London correspondent who reports the incident says they saw, in their day in London, more than most Londoners see in a lifetime.

Finishing Masterpieces

Christian Science Monitor
To take Pegasus for a canter after an expert rider has left his back is no small feat. But it is one that the readers of an English weekly have just accomplished with varying degrees of success.

They were asked to write an additional stanza for what is perhaps the most famous poem in the English language, Gray's Elegy in a Country Church-Yard. Undertaken by any misgivings about "gilding refined gold" or "painting the lily," poets all over Britain sharpened their pencils, and started in where Gray left off.

Several people produced something that closely resembled poetry, but was not at all like Gray. "When April's sudden pools are mimic skies," for example, is a good line, but it is not in the same mood as "Full many a gem of purest ray serene," or "Let not ambition mock their useful toil." On the other hand, many writers achieved something that looked fairly like Gray, but did not in the slightest degree resemble poetry. Only one or two would-be poets succeeded in both categories, the best attempt at Gray's style being:

No more at noon, beneath the sheltering bough,
On rural themes their simple talk shall flow.

Gray himself, if he were to read those three lines might be excused if he wondered whether they were not part of a stanza of his own composition which he had finally discarded.

But the "Elegy" is complete in itself. It needs no additional beauty to commend it. There are, however, in literature many unfinished masterpieces, and it is a fascinating occupation to speculate which of these, were it possible, one would desire to see completed. Would one choose Keats' "Ode to Maia," which gave promise in its few opening lines of rivaling his five other great odes, or Coleridge's "Kubla Khan," which is quite unlike anything that Coleridge or anyone else ever wrote at any other time?

Or would one rather know the true end of Dickens' "Edwin Drood," or Thackeray's "Denis Duval," or Stevenson's "Weir of Hermiston"? But it is easier to ask questions than to answer them. Perhaps sometimes it may even be more stimulating, too.

Youth in Population

Riverside Daily Press
A statistical bulletin of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company makes interesting age comparisons of cities of the world. In studying the composition of population, according to ages of residents, it found that Tokyo is most youthful of all world capitals. In 1930, 67.07 per cent of Tokyo's residents were under 30 years of age. The ancient city of Rome comes next with 56.8 per cent of its people below 30 years.

In the United States, Detroit has the most youthful population among the big cities. New York is second, Chicago third, Philadelphia fourth and Los Angeles fifth. The percentages range from 55.68 to 45.23.

Birth and death rates and average longevity determine the numerical sizes of age groups. Some old world cities are not even self-maintaining. In Berlin and Vienna the death rate now exceeds the birth rate. New York's birth rate is high for a large city, though it is lower than the rate for the nation.

In medical science continues to improve health and prolong life, and if the birth rate continues to drop as the experts have foretold, these figures are going to change materially in the next 50 years. The other social and economic changes which will follow naturally the change in age groups offer a fascinating field for study and prophecy.

More Truth Than Poetry

THE BETTER PART OF VALOR

When Tommy gets his airplane,
His great big silver airplane,
He's going to fly
Around the sky
Alighting here and there
To see a yak or dingo
And hear a native lingo.
And then he'll fly
Up in the sky
And sail away from there.

He means to visit regions
Where lions roam in legions,
Where tigers growl
And leopards prowl
Amid the jungle dim.
But they will not frighten him
Or even try to bite him;
With his stern frown
He'll scowl them down—
They'll never bother him.

But Tommy, for the present,
Finds life extremely pleasant;
Outside his door
The breakers roar
And lash the beach with foam,
And this supplies the reason
That for another season
He will not fly
Around the sky
But spends his time at home.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

TRADE GROUP WEAKNESSES

Yesterday I called attention to the fact that under the National Industrial Recovery Act the Federal Government purposes to co-operate with the Trade Associations in the several fields of economic enterprise, with these associations serving as a series of industrial governments and the political government acting as spur, overseer and umpire.

This throws new, radically different and heavy responsibilities upon the Trade Associations. Are they ready for these responsibilities?

A survey of the Trade Association field reveals the following weaknesses that merit the prompt attention of the business and industrial leadership of the nation.

(1) Many Trade Associations have never been much more than professional get-together organizations exchanging views and passing resolutions, but failing to grapple with basic economic issues.

(2) Some Trade Associations are not adequately representative of their fields, having but a small part of the industries in their memberships.

(3) Some industrial fields are but battlegrounds of competing Trade Associations, whereas the situation calls for one truly representative body.

(4) In many Trade Associations

the big units and the little units of the industrial field in question have never been brought into working harmony, so that they are undermined by conflicting aims rather than unified by common aim.

(5) Some Trade Associations are in the hands of "bosses" who override rather than organize the best judgments of the members.

(6) Some Trade Associations are split on the rock of sectional rivalries of interest.

(7) Many Trade Associations are feebly financed and so have made little headway.

(8) The executive direction of some Trade Associations is in the hands of men who do not, in basic ability and outlook, measure up to the standards of economic statesmanship that these new responsibilities will require.

Other stubborn internal problems come to mind but these eight weaknesses are enough to suggest that while we are going from door to door to make sure housewives buy only from Blue Eagle grocers, we must not overlook the fact that unless the Trade Associations put their houses in order and get ready for their new responsibilities, they are going far towards sabotaging the drive towards national recovery.

THREE YEARS

"Gladys is getting to be very troublesome. She was such a good baby but lately, I don't know what has gotten into her. She doesn't want to play with her toys any more. She whines and says, 'I want to go to Minnie's house. I want to go out. I want to go to see Lulu. Forever wanting to go. I've given her all the toys a child can wish for. What can I do to make her want to stay home and play with her things?'"

Nothing. It is human nature to want to go out and play with Minnie and Lulu, to get away from the ties that bind, to experiment and adventure and finally, to make home somewhere abroad. Even a child feels this instinctive drive to go out and meet life and learn what it holds of happiness or grief for him. Instead of holding him back it is wiser, and far easier to help him to go with safety and success.

A child of three is a sociable little creature. He wants to talk to children of his own age, even of his own height and weight. Height is important to little children. They get tired of stretching their necks to see the grown-ups, in flesh and in spirit. They long to be on an even footing and an even eye level with somebody who is interested in what they are doing and saying and thinking. Grown people are poor companions for little children.

"Oh! I don't see that. I listened to Mabelle and Claire the other day and they didn't say a thing that counted. I'm sure neither of them was one whit the wiser for the conversation. It consisted mainly of, 'I have, my mother has,' a sort of competition. Do you think that they were better off together than talking to some grown-up who might have taught them something?"

Certainly I do. They are taught by grown-ups by day and by night and they need the relief of feeling out each other's minds. They need to feel free of the everlasting teaching. "Why do you like to play with Gracie so much?" asked grandma of three year Ida. "Cause I can say, 'O shut up,' to her without getting a scolding or something."

Grandma was shocked. She need not have been. What Ida said indicated to me that she was of the little ones who had been done good unto until she was ready to moult her angel wings. She wanted to feel free to give and
